Our membership knows very little of the enbordinate councils under the jurisdiction of the National Council. There are 14 States in which councils have been organized that have no State councils. These are Maine, Delaware, North Carotina, Alabama, Florida, Louislana, Texas, Kansas, Missouri, California, Iowa, Wisconsin, Iudiana and Nebraska. There is a total of about 40 councils with a communed membership of nearly 5,000, The last session of the National Council made it necessary for Scates to have ten councils before they can organize a State Council. State Secretary Deemer thinks this is a mi-take, as the sconer the councils in a State can have the sooner the councils in a State can have their own organization the better for them and the order. The national councils seem too far away, but when they have their own government, and feel the responsibility resting on them, they are more inclined to effort, and will reach out for new territory.

Light Shed Upon the Kennedy Purchases in Allegheny City. BISHOP PHELAN STEPS FORWARD

Buildings in the County. GROUND TO BE BROKEN IN THE SPRING

He Will Erect One of the Finest School

The Northside purchases of Mr. A. B. Kennedy, of the firm of J. B. Larkin & Co., and his willingness to take all that is offered in the same locality at a fair price is being discussed in real estate circles and about City Hall in Allegheny. He was discreetly silent until his purchases amounted to nearly $30,000, and even then no one could tell what disposition was to be made of the load. He seemed to be in no haste, and evidently did not care whether he sold or bought. He began just as the Goveroment Inspectors left the city, and this gave rise to the report that a site was being quietly picked up for the postoffice, although number of the knowing ones insisted that new and splendidly equipped theater would be built upon the place in the spring. To set all doubts at rest Mr. Kennedy yesterday said: "I never had any objection to stating my pur pose to any person in interest, but the number of such persons was few, and in this as in other matters of business I only used the caution and care necessary to its proper transaction. This property will be used for educational purposes, and I have to-day transferred it to Bishop Phelan. It is his intention to erect on this sire, early in the spring, a magnificent parochial school that will compare in value, appearance and appointments with the finest school building in the county—creditable alike to the city of Allegheny and the Pro-Cathedral congregation. The building will be modern in every respect, and will cost when finished about $75,000, exclusive of grounds."

To the question: "Have you all the ground you want?" Mr. Keunedy said: "Yes; we have all that is necessary for the purpose stated." property will be used for educational purposes, Penn Avenue Improvement. It was announced yesterday that the south-west corner of Penn avenue and Thirteenth street, lot 50x100, will be improved after April next with a four or five story building having stores on the first floor and the upper part so arranged as to be adapted to business or flats for light housekeeping. Inquiry was made of W. A. Herron & Sons, who sold the lot some W. A. Herron & Sons, who sold the lot some time ago. They admitted that it had been bought for improvement, but would not say whether it would be built on now or a year later. They knew that plans had been prepared for such a building as above described, and said a decision would be reached in regard to it in a few days.

As to such buildings paying, a member of the firm said: "The best answer is to give our experience in renting houses of this kind. We have one on Penn avenue, near Eleventh street—stores on the first floor and flats above. While the rent is reasonable, it pays the owner well, and gives persons of small families who must live in the down-town district good satisfaction. It has all the latest improvements."

Local Business Improving. There was some expansion of local business during the past week, as compared with the early part of the month, but the volume was considerably smaller than that of the corresponding time last year. This is easily accounted for, however, when the conditions under which 1890 and 1891 came upon the scene are taken into consideration. Obstructions are being removed, the money market is well sup-plied, and there is a disposition in all quarters to begin pushing things. Signs of awakening are visible on every hand. By the time the weather settles in the spring, if not before, all the activities of the country will be running at their full capacity, with Pittsburg in the lead

Growth of Electric Lighting. On December 30, 1890, the East End Electric Light Company reported: Number of 16-candle power lamps equivalent on circuit, 20,134; are lights on circuit, 430. At the same time 1889, the number of the former was 11,50%, and of the latter 385. This illustrates the rapid growth of the electric lighting business in this city. The number of permits issued was 96, representing 135 structares, mostly dwellings, the estimated cost be ing $154,063. The number of houses for which permits were issued in January, 1890, was 171. Central, the fluctuations of the day were entirely insignificant.

The Granger stock, however, continued to drop, while the Vanderbilt and Gould stocks were the strong points. Union Pacific is stronger. The movements in the market call for no comment, while the general tendency was downward, owing to the mild pressure of the bears during the early hour. After the issue of the bank statement there was a firmer tone shown and the close was firm, though gull, with a promise of a stronger market next week. WALL STREET GOSSIP. Money Accumulating and Must Find Employment-The Trend of Stocks. Watson & Gibson wire as follows to John M. Oakley & Co., brokers, of this city: The stock market opened steady this morn-

Lake Shore is one of the stocks that promises best, and as it can be more cheanly operated than almost, if not, any other line in this country, and as it is likely to constantly grow, irregularly, perhaps, but nevertheless in the end gain in volume with an increasing net profit per ton, it is a favorite. BiThe uncertainty about the upshot of our silver legislation no doubt creates much shyness toward those of our issues which might be deemed payable in silver. The metropolitan financial press is loud in its warnings as to the consequences of free coinage, and predicts a sweeping return of corporate securities in the event of the adoption of that measure. Still, there seems to be no reasonable room for doubt that, in the event of the pending silver schemes being defeated, London speculation would run very actively into Americans; the more so on account of the disastrous losses that have fallen upon British investors from the sort of foreign enterprises to which they have been committed during recent years. In this view, the fate of silver legislation will have very much to do with the future course of speculation and of prices both at London and New York.
